Our readers will remember that our London correspondent mentioned in a recent letter that Mr. Lever, the projector of the Galway line of steamers, had made the handsome offer of $100,000 to the Great Eastern Company for the privilege of running that marine mouster on her first trip from Galway to America. We are now in possession of information, through a private despatch received by the Jason, to the effect that she will sail from Galway on the 15th of this month, and that her destination will be New York and not Portland. The Great Eastern will touch at St. Johns, learing there a mail, her despatches for the press, and such passengers as may obe bound there, and will proceed directly to this port, where she may be expected to arrive about the 24th inst., or thereabouts. WENTWORTH AND THE GAM-Some days ago, when arrangements were being perfected for making a descent upon the gamolers, the Democrat got wind of the fact, and put the latter on their guard as to the designs of the authorities. Cameron read these in a thick voice, which Dr. Kimberly tried to improve upon, got the sentences tangled in his mustaches, and sat down. One J. O. Sullivan, on the floor, occupied a good share of the time in pouring in a har-ungue on his own hook. Secretary Lloyd, too, again got nheasy, and from that became up-roarious. Dr. Kimberly midly frowned at him. Is didn't work. Dick Hamilton, Jr., made a speech with one hand, holding the rampant Secretary back with the other. O'Sullivan on content to be teemselves and not someou-cles; but if we must ape "our betters," in the name of a tolerable self-respect, let us go to "headquarters," right to the "foontain head" —even to London, and call our noble street, no longer "Clark," but "Pater Noster Bow." There you have it. Who seconds that motion the floor, made several good points heard by half a dozen or so.

Hamilton waded home through the preamble and sat down. Cameroh rose to speak. By this time the fusing point seemed reached, and the prospect of a general and promiscuous union was imminent. A man in the west window put his first into mother man's eye a little too camphatically if intended to "wipe a falling tear," and the wiped individual fell. Then there was a small aprinkling of a row, ingeniously prevented by Secretary Lloyd, in whom the suion feeling prevailed with such intensity, modified by a disposition to speak, that he united himself to Cameron while the latter was in his harangue, and imped or tumbled off the platform, both coming to the floor together. Dr. Kimberly came to the rescue, ditto U. S. Deputy Marshall Boyer. Mr. O'Sullivan went on speaking,—we think we haven't been guilty of saying he had stoped speaking.

Then came other speeches and cries for speakers, Usah Drammond, et al., but in place came one Boolitife, who proved that there may be something in a name. He stopped his speech at a point where he seemed to be defring the reporters, on some part of American history, or this own private history, by suddenly moving to adjourn, and just theu Q. THE EMPEROE IN THE RAIM.

Presently a regular water spout in comparison with which the preceding showers were mere sprinkings, wetted people through in a few moments, and I should think spolled more bounets and dresses than have been scrifficed on any one occasion for many a long day. The cavalay of the guard, which wound up the procession, marched past before empty benches. Here and there a couple of ladies might be seen crouching under one umbrella, their feet in a puddle, and their crinoline and flounces, which no umbrella yet manufactured could cover, soaking wet. All this while the Emperor never budged, or appeared to take the least notice of the mishap. Harrison C. Hobart, the Democratic nominee for Governor, is a gentleman of fine personal appearance and popular address, and perhaps as fit a representative of the Democratic party, as now constituted, as any man named before the convention. With high professions of honesty, and much apparent annerity of purpose, he is essentially a positiona, bringing all things to subserviency to personal auceess. From his first entrance into the State, he has been all discenerates; thus far without success. With much apparent frankness and candor in his address, he carries a lurking inducation of insincerity, that proves all too true in practical life. As a liophilar speaker, his first appearance is always the best; time and observation fail to realize idea first formed. He has the happy faculty to adapt himself to the prejudices and preferences of his audience, and make himself "all things to all men, if by chance he may win some." A thorough adherent of the Administration of Mr. Buchanan, he will indertake to show that he is a most determined enemy of Slavery, and arried friend of freedom and equal right. He is relied upon mostly on the present occasion, for his qualities as a stump speaker, and his ability to unite all the factions of the Democratic party in the State. Having been, fortunately for himself, out of public position, and removed from public observation during the period of Bairoad away and bribery and corruption in connection with the land grants, he is able to show a lair record in that respect, at the same time his easy adaptation to circumstances, and his known a my pathy with Young America, gives him the-support and confidence of the land grant and his party was his an overwheiming majority, and again is opposition to Mr. Billinghurst. And even as a candidate for the Assembly, he was unable to secure the vote, even of his own party. At about 9 o'clock the atmospheric display seemed to reach its culmination, and its aspect as seen from elevated positions and house tops commanding a full reew of the horison on all aides, was such as to arouse the most divergoevering emotions. At the neuth, directly above ering emotions.

Soon, as Everett has beautifully apoken of a somewhat similar acese, "the hands of angels shifted the glorious scenery of the heavens." The mass of apparent red cloud to the east moved away southward, gradually failing, while the corresponding red clouds on the west seemed to sink into a chaos of dark cloud that, with a fringe of blue, skirted the west ro horizon. While these changes were taking place in the east and west, the wondrous crown above moved a few degrees and then gradually faded. Finance of light covering many degrees alowly condensed into a mighty luminous cloud, with its top near the zenth. This cloud, gradually altring its shape, assumed forms both sloguiar and suggestive.

augustizes and the striking resemblance to an eagle, and then the alightest, amost imperceptible change, transformed it into a tortoise. Then again, it seemed to sweep seroes the heavens, presenting the appearance of a confus-doprocession of beings clead in ghostly shrouds, and reminding one of the dim heroes of O-sian. For shout half an hour these remarkable changes took piace, and then the lights gradually disappeared. In a short time, however, they were reaumed. Sheets of the same white luminous cloud again illuminated the sky, producing about the same amout of light as the full moon, said then this these amout a most as the full moon, said then this these amout a most as the day.

. The Swedish Pretender. It may not be generally known that the crows of Sweden is claimed by a lineal descendant of the great house of Wasa in the person of Field Marshal Prince Gustavus de Wasa, of Holstein Gottorp, who, on the occasion of the rec cession of King Charles XV. to the th Sweden, submitted a formal protest to the Courts of Vienna, St. Petersburgh, London Courts of vicinia, St. Fetersourgh, London, Berlin, and Copenhagen, designed to "reserve and protect the rights of his birth." To this manifesto the Swedish Minister for Foreign Af-fairs, Baron de Manderstroem, has replied by the subjoined circular despatch:

"Monsieur: In the OA Deutsche Post of Vi-enna of the 27th ultimo we find the following article: 'On the occasion of the accession to the throne of King Charles XV, Field Marshal Prince Gustavus de Wasa dehvered to the Courts of Vienna, St. Petersburgh, London, Berlin, and Copenhagen a reservation to protect the rights of his birth.' This is, I think, the Erst time since 1844 that we have heard of this pretender to the throne of Sweden. Then, as now, he addressed a similar protest to the same pretender to the throne of Sweden. Then, as now, he addressed a similar protest to the same Courts. You well know, Monaieur —, the nobic reply scade by the late King. As soon as this protest came to the knowledge of his Majesty, King Oscar publicly declared that the ordinance of the 10th of December, 1812, which, under severe penalties, interducted any communication with the members of thee december oyal family, was aboutshed. During the fifteen years of his glorious reign his late Majesty has never for a moment to repeat the secretary has previous happened. of reign took place, made known a similar re-servation; they also did if for a long time, and always in vain; they also became extinct far from the country from whence they had been banished through the faults of their forefathers, but the memory of their accessors, like that of the great kings of the boase of Wasa, who, by their exalten virtues, founded the glory and happiness of Sweden, does not remain less im-perishable and less brilliant, and the respect due to exalted unisorium closes the ever to a preter-

A Mr. Rodgers, of Ripley county, Indiana, with his daughter Elizabeth, of shouls seventeed years, and her illegitumate child of three or four mouths, appeared in Oloey last week and applied to Hayward & Kitchell, attorneys, to procure the arrest of a voung Mr. Lane, the abscooding father of the child, who was said to be the face—a stear fell on the floor—it like this—this babe—a dimple on his chin," Side as she pulled is little white bounch back; then with her face still averted, drew from her bosom a deguerrectype, "you will know him by that." Unrappriants Scarcion.—The Mansfeld Herald is informed of a most strange event which cocurred in the northern part of Ribland County. It seems that a men, whose name was not learned, recently returned from California, where he had been quite profitable. A week or two ago he reached home, with between 15,000 and $15,000 in gold coin. Feeling it to be unsafe to keep so much about the house, and doubting the honesty of the banks, the fortunate gold-hunter concluded to deposit in the same hank from which it was taken. Now what I have tried to show the reader is the foregoing, is this--that at last Ministers on Gospel are resident in Japan--that they are eccived kindly and respected as teachers--that at a while they will not intrade their religion pinions upon those with whom they coule in outact, and that after they shall have succeed of in making frience, they will bring both low and argument to bear upon their beathen beef. This is certainly much to have been seef. It is a certainly much to have been seef. It is a certainly much to have been seef. This is certainly much to have been seef. This is certainly much to have been seef. It is so shorty a time, and indicate were such a thing necessary) the reaching own of a hand from on high, which is making lear their way before them.

If was was asking the Governor to give me a salute on 22d of this month and he—'Oh' interrapted the Prince, that is Washington's birth-day. A very great man! The greatest, I think, of the world. We know him very well in Japan. "Query by the writer! How did it happen that upon the arrival of Mr. Harriss in Japan, he found them perfectly at home as to the character, &c., of General George Washington? While stopping at Nagasaki on his way here, Mr. Harriss called to see his fellow diplomat, Myoheer Douber Currius, the Dutch Commissioner. Conversing upon the subject of the treaties they had made with the Jupanese, the former objected, or rather expressed surprise at the wooding of an article in that of the latter, which related to religion, and which reads as follows:

"Dutchmen residing in Japan shall be silowed the free exercise of the Christian, or their own religion."

Max is Phoenssing.—Man is this day neare to God than at any former time. Not that Go is nearer to man, for his omniscient and invisibly received with admit of no augmentation; but man, at every advancing step, is necessarily rought still nearer to his God, and is made est public of seeing still more and more of his bound

Buss: vas Budskyron.—The Arabs have a fable of a miller, who was one day startled by a camel's nose thrust in the window of the room where he was sleeping. "It is very cold out side," said the camel; "I only want to get my nose in." The nose was let in, then the neck, and finally the whole body. Presently the miller began to be extremely inconvenienced at the ungustyl companion he had obtained, in a room certainly not large enough for both. "If you are inconvenienced, you may leave," said the camel; "as for myself, I shall stay where I sam." The moral of the fable concerns all. When temptation comes, we must not yield to it.
